The President then read the following resolutions, adopted at a stated meeting of the Council, held on the 5th of November:

Resolved, That in the death of Professor Theodore W. Dwight, LL.D., who has been a Fellow of this Society for twenty-four years, and who, from 1873 to 1879 and from 1883 to the time of his death, was a member of our Council, we have lost one of the most valuable of our associates. Distinguished, as the head of the Law School of Columbia College and as one of the Judges of our Court of Appeals, for his legal learning, he had also a wide knowledge of geography, interesting himself not only in those physical inquiries that constitute its basis as a science, but in all expeditions to obtain information of the unknown or imperfectly known parts of the earth. No one, for many years, was a more constant attendant at the meetings of the Society, where he could always be depended upon for appreciative and critical remarks upon the papers read or lectures delivered before it, and all of us recall the amicable disposition, the ever-pleasant smile and the gracious courtesy that made him very attractive as a teacher and beloved as a man.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes and that a copy of them be transmitted to the family of our late associate.

On motion, duly seconded, the Society unanimously adopted the resolutions.

The President then read the following resolutions, which also had been adopted at the stated meeting of the Council held on the 5th of November:

Resolved, That by the death of Francis Aquila Stout the American Geographical Society has lost a highly valued adviser and friend. For thirty-two years he was a Fellow of the Society, for two years its Secretary and for twenty years one of its Vice-Presidents. He was a man of cultivation and refinement, and of rare executive ability. He was deeply interested in this Society, took pride in its progress, and was always generous in his methods of increasing its usefulness. By his uniform courtesy and consideration he endeared himself to all who had relations with him. In him the American Geographical Society has lost a wise counsellor, a diligent officer and a loyal supporter.

Transactions of the Society for 1892. lxxiii

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, that they be read at the next meeting of the Society, and that an engrossed copy be sent to the family of Mr. Stout, with assurances of the sorrow and sympathy of each member of the Council.

On motion the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The President then introduced the speaker of the evening, Prof. Chas. Sprague Smith, who delivered a lecture on "The Historical Value of the Vinland Sagas."
